BRONZE STAR AWARDED POSTHUMOUSLY TO SGT. JAMES B. BARTLETT

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd E. Bartlett of 93 Sagamore Road, Rye, N. H., received the Bronze Star Medal with V device last week awarded posthumously to their son, Sgt. James B. Bartlett, who died during action in Vietnam, June 30, at the age of 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett received the medal at a short ceremony at their home by Capt. Randall B. Davis, commanding officer, Portsmouth Subsection Command, U. S. Army Reserve Center, 125 Cottage St.

At the time of the action, Sgt. Bartlett had been in Vietnam for about a year, previously serving as a member of the honor guard at Arlington National Cemetery.

He had been in the Army for four years.

According to the citation, the medal was awarded "For heroism in connection with military operations against a hostile force. While conducting search and destroy operations in Loc Ninh Province near the Cambodian border, his unit was attached by a numerically superior insurgent force armed with automatic weapons, small arms, grenades, rocket launchers and mortars.

"During this action he displayed outstanding valor and exemplary courage while inflicting heavy casualties upon the Viet Cong.

"With complete disregard for his personal safety he repeatedly exposed himself to intense hostile fire in order to place highly effective fire upon insurgent emplacements.

"On numerous occasions he left the comparative safety of his position in order to distribute much needed ammunition to the men in his charge and to direct their fire.

"When his unit sustained casualties, he reacted immediately, supervising the extraction of the wounded and recovery of their equipment.

"During the entire engagement, the only concern of this outstanding soldier was for the successful completion of his mission.

"The rapidity and aggressiveness with which he gave orders to his men were in large measure responsible for his company's achievement.

"Fighting gallantly until he was mortally wounded, he greatly assisted in repelling the repeated insurgent assaults and gave material aid to the overwhelming success with which the 2nd Battalion, 18th Infantry, accomplished its mission.

"Sergeant Bartlett's outstanding display of aggressiveness, devotion to duty, and personal bravery is in keeping with the finest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit on himself, the 1st Infantry Division, and the United States Army."

Sgt. Bartlett also is survived by two sisters, Miss Donna Jones of North Hampton and Miss Marie Anne Bartlett of Rye, paternal grandmother, Mrs. Lottie Bartlett of Bethel, and maternal grandmother, Mrs. Flora Smart of Portsmouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Aslan Jaffrey and family are moving to Portland for awhile. Mr. Jaffrey has employment with the Portland Pipe Line Corp., there. They were at their Vernon Street home for the week end.

Sen. Muskie Reports

Recently I have described how a Senator or Congressman can be helpful in a variety of ways when you have a problem or project involving the Federal Government.

Two major areas of our case work are military service and immigration problems. Examples from my files will help illustrate how we can help.

One recent immigration case involved a Canadian native who has lived in Maine all his adult life.

The gentleman wanted a passport so he could attend an International Rotarian convention in Europe this summer.

Unfortunately, the gentleman could not provide the necessary birth certificate because births were not recorded in his native city when he was born.

After fruitless and frustrating inquiries to various courts and immigration officers in Maine, he appealed to my office. Serving as a liaison between the constituent and the State Department, we were able to help him secure his passport — in ample time to plan for his convention.

Two service cases are fresh in my mind. One involved a Maine soldier who had entered the Army with experience in law enforcement.

After basic training and occupational testing, the soldier was assigned as a cook. He wrote us complaining about the assignment, confessing that he couldn't even fry an egg.

I asked the Army to review his case. The Army responded a short time later, and going by an expert. It seems the Army specialist entered the soldier's Military Occupational Specialty rating by 200 digits. The Army's embarrassment was matched by the soldier's relief. He was reassigned to more appropriate duty.

Another service case was brought to our attention by the wife of a Navy enlisted man.

She requested that her husband, on his other enlistment, be assigned to Key West Fla. duty. In the Corps' eyes, it was more a year later, she said, and she thought it was time he received permanent orders so she could rejoin him.

We inquired about her husband's case at the Navy Department. They were as mystified as the wife was. It seems that in the anxious moments after the Cuban crisis, the seven men had been overlooked. It was indeed time to issue the men permanent orders, and the situation was corrected.

In these and most cases, the constituent could have obtained the same results by writing the proper agency. But because we know who to contact, and because we are in Washington and can follow-up each case on a regular basis, we can usually reduce delays and frustrations. And we can make sure your case receives every reasonable consideration.

Case work is one of our responsibilities as Congressmen, and no responsibility is more personally satisfying to us.

HATHAWAY REPORTS

Last week, I met with Mr. Elwin W Webber, Director of the Northeastern Regional Office of the Economic Development Administration to discuss the continuing economic and employment problems of Washington and Hancock Counties.

These two counties contain the last large areas in the Second Congressional District qualified for E D A assistance by virtue of a persistent and critically high unemployment level.

I am happy to report that Mr Webber shares my concern and is very sympathetic to the needs of these areas. We discussed possibilities for helping the two counties and encouraged applications for projects in the area.

We agreed that all efforts to alleviate the economic difficulties that exist in the two counties should be explored and Mr Webber agreed to take immediate steps in this direction.

As a result, during late this month E D A will assign a representative to the area to carry out a careful evaluation of the factors which have created Washington and Hancock Counties' economic plight.

If a small equipment grant is provided, plans of action already in the process of being prepared by E D A Washington office can be completed by May 1 and offer concrete suggestions for consideration by area civic and business leaders and offer a course of action based upon what is already known of area problems.

Upon completion E D A officials will be called upon to help implement the plans which have been developed. Washington and Hancock Counties will be eligible for assistance under the Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1965 as well as other E D A assistance programs.

Hopefully, the initial steps will be completed in time to take advantage of the fishing season which have created Washington and Hancock Counties' economic plight.

PEACE

I have heard His silent whispers when distress seemed strangely near —
Felt the warmth of His compassion in the darkness of my fears—
He assured me of His presence, gave solace to my thoughts—
Then I rested on His promise for the peace I often sought.

FEATURES OF LAST WEEK'S NEWS AT U. OF M. ORONO CAMPUS

The imagination of art students at the University of Maine is being exhibited in the exhibition of design constructions done by these students and on display this month on the second floor of the Fogler Library.

The exhibit all began as an assignment for Advanced Drawing with Michael Lewis as instructor. The constructions are actually the second phase of a two-part assignment which began with a rectangle. The rectangle, which was drawn, was then divided into compartments with an image drawn in each.

U - M Professor Vincent Hartgen has described the exhibit as "wild and wonderful."

The document has been described as "a veritable cornerstone manuscript for the long standing boundary dispute between Maine and Canada."

The manuscript is in the form of a memorandum to the "Gentlemen of the House of Representatives" discussing the boundary claims of "the Eastern Parts," then in dispute with Great Britain.

STATE SUPT.'S ASSOCIATION SAYS SCHOOL SUBSIDY ACTION NEEDED NOW

Legislative action to increase the school subsidy cannot wait for another session without "irreparable damage" to Maine education, the Maine School Superintendents Association said in a letter sent the last of the week to town officers and legislators.

The letter was signed by Supt. John J. Houston, Winslow, president of MSSA, who said he was acting as the result of a unanimous vote of the state's superintendents.

Unless action is taken at this session the state's share in the cost of education will drop from the present 29 percent to 26 percent. Houston said. "Everyone recognizes that local educational costs have increased substantially during the past two years and that they are very likely to increase during the next two years . . . If the state's share . . . is not now increased, the burden of rising educational costs will be borne by the local property taxpayer."

The letter points out that Governor Kenneth M. Curtis' budget message calls for an increase in state subsidies, but recommends action in the next Legislature. "This means that not only are we going to be standing still, but also that the state's support of Public Education will be decreased percentage-wise, over the next two years, 1967 and 1968. It would appear to be an impossible task to wait for the 1969-70 biennium to make up this loss . ."

Mr. Houston points out that substantial increases for higher education will be sought in 1969-70. There is a "real possibility" that state subsidies to cities and towns in 1969-70 will not meet the intent of the Sinclair law which calls for adjustments in subsidy to meet increasing costs.

SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTIST SABBATH SCHOOL TO HEAR OF MISSION PROGRAM

Members of the Seventh-day Adventist Sabbath School in South Woodstock will hear more about their far-flung mission program at their exercises on Saturday morning, March 18, at 10 o'clock.

They also will be giving an offering to expand the denomination's mission program which is already active in 169 countries of the world.

Although one of the smaller Protestant religious denominations numerically, Seventh-day Adventists maintain one of the largest foreign mission programs of all faiths. Every two days three new missionaries leave "home" bases to serve for the Adventist church in foreign lands.

SKI TIPS

#10 UPHILL CHRISTIE

By Ace Manley
Director, Big Bromley Ski School

The first parallel turn that the skier learns is the uphill christie.

From a fairly shallow traverse position, the skier sinks down in preparation for the start of the christie.

To make the turn, the skis are un-weighted with an up motion and the tails of the skis pushed slightly downhill, as if the skier were going into a traverse sideslip

Now, as the skis turn, they will also start to slide. But, instead of just holding this position and letting them slide, the skier comes back down with the upper body, pressing the knees forward and slightly into the hill.

This motion will re-set the edges of the skis and make them carve or turn uphill

COFFEE HOUSE TO OPEN SATURDAY

This Saturday from 2-4 marks the opening of the first coffee house in this area. It is set up to be a place to which any youth may go to do whatever he pleases without feeling his usual burden of responsibility. A need for this sort of establishment has risen from the teen of today having to spend so much time with school and other responsibilities.

At the coffee house, he can feel free to exchange ideas with his friends or just sit and drink coffee or eat doughnuts. In general, it is a place to come to take time off from the fast daily routine of life. From time to time, entertainment will be provided in the form of a group or other subject of interest which can be suggested through a suggestion box. Coffee, doughnuts, and soda will be available wholesale, on a self-service basis. The coffee house has been set up by a group of local teens under the guidance of Rev. Hess, who has offered the annex of the Methodist Church as the location of the coffee house. Although it will be sponsored by the church it will not be basically a church function. Vivian Brown and Ned Robertson, as members of the group, are collecting games such as chess, checkers, cards, etc., to be available while the coffee house is open. Roy Tripp is in charge of food to be served there. Andy Davis is collecting card tables to be used in the coffee house, and Dave Hutchins and Tom Davis are in charge of advertising, along with Elise Hatch and Dick Waldron. An adult advisory committee was chosen through popular nomination by the youth group. At least one member of this committee will be inconspicuously present when the coffee house is open.

The success of the coffee house depends upon its popularity. As long as its facilities are in use, it will operate as an outlet from today's rushing society for today's youth.
